

Krystian Gurba

Deputy director

Centre for Technology Transfer CITTRU

Mr. Krystian Gurba is serving as a deputy director at the Centre for Technology Transfer CITTRU at the Jagiellonian University in Kraków, Poland. Since 2006, he has been working at the CTT CITTRU, as a project manager and IP law specialist.

Member of the board of the Polish Association of Centres for Technology Transfer (PACTT), which is a network of 78 knowledge transfer centres from Polish universities and public research institutes. He served as an expert in regional and national projects regarding intellectual property management and knowledge transfer and as an expert in the European Commission project "Capacity Building for Technology Transfer for the Western Balkans". Delegate of PACTT to the National Association Advisory Committee (NAAC) within ASTP – European association of knowledge transfer professionals.

Author of many publications and co-creator of intellectual property management regulations at the Jagiellonian University and at several other Polish universities.

Mr Krystian Gurba is a graduate of law at the Faculty of Law and Administration of the Jagiellonian University. A graduate of the Polish Ministry of Science and Higher Education program "Top 500 Innovators", under which he completed the "Science Management and Commercialization" course at Stanford University in 2015.